

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Executive Services Group Expands Team

Conshohocken-based wealth and lifestyle management firm adds staff to meet growing client needs.

Conshohocken, PA, April 27, 2009 - Executive Services Group (ESG), a regional provider of wealth and lifestyle management services, has added three new members to its staff. Joining ESG are Emily Babich and Kyle Reap, in Relationship Manager roles, and Bridget Michener as a Senior Relationship Manager.

Babich and Reap bring exemplary project management skills to their roles. Babich, a graduate of Wesley College, has served as CFO for a residential construction firm and prior to that handled account management and payroll functions for a vehicle dealership. Reap is a recent Temple University graduate and has earned his experience through internships with a Northeastern PA CPA firm and a manufacturing procurement company.

Michener, a Hofstra University graduate, brings over 11 years of experience as an Executive Personal Assistant, most recently as Executive Assistant to Jeffrey Lurie, Chairman and CEO of the Philadelphia Eagles. Michener will represent a group of ESG clients and coordinate all advisory and personal services for them.

The staff additions are being made as a direct result to ESG's increased number of clients and in response to greater requests for services from their existing customers.

About ESG

ESG is a wealth and lifestyle management firm providing a range of advisory and personal services to ultra high net worth individuals, professional athletes, foundations and institutions. Clients turn to ESG for exemplary advice and superior service. Online at www.esgps.com.

Media Contact: Anne Marie Heil
AMHeil Marketing Strategy + Communications
610-933-8065 amheil@amheil.com